

Happy Birthday
New Jersey Notary Association
'5' Years Young

LAKWOOD PUBLIC LIBRARY

The New Jersey Notary Association (“NJNA”), a not for profit organization, first met at the Lakewood Public Library, Lakewood NJ, on Sunday September 14, 2004.

NEW JERSEY NOTARY ASSOCIATION (“NJNA”)

Throughout its five years, the NJNA has become another arm of the State of New Jersey Notarial Information Highway. In its short life, many notaries, lawyers, signing companies, police officers and prosecutors have used our website or hotline to get answers and faxes have been received from Canada with inquiries.

Attending monthly meetings of the NJNA will provide the opportunity to network with other notaries, get training on the latest notary techniques, join in a Q&A with guest speakers on diverse topics of interest within the industry, and keep updated on current legislative movements.

DEDICATION

Kudos to the 'A Team' who have been consistent in showing their enthusiasm and continued support for this non-profit organization

A Notary Public is the first responder in spotting "fraud". Since identification is one of the most important components for identifying signers, notaries must be attentive to details and observant in noticing the little 'out of order' items in identification deception. Without education and training, a notary will not know what to look for and this will handicap the notary and the public.

NEW FACES

There's always a new face in the crowd. Meeting Peggy and Roxanne, who are both notaries, added a breadth of fresh air to this fifth anniversary meeting.
